DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/26/10 has been entered.

Claims 43-58 are under examination.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement, received 11/22/10, is acknowledged. A signed copy is enclosed hereto.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 43-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fournery et al. (USPN 7,618,940).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C.

102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

The instant invention is drawn to a method of treating diabetes comprising administering an effective amount of a heterocyclic carbonyl glycine compound which inhibits a hypoxia inducible factor (HIF) hydroxylase.

Fourney et al. discloses methods for regulating fat metabolism or treating conditions associated with altered fat metabolism including, e.g., diabetes. Fourney discloses obesity is associated with increased risk of diabetes, e.g., obesity as a risk factor for the development of diabetes. Fourney discloses methods of treatment can comprise administration of an effective amount of a compound to a subject having or at risk for having a metabolic disorder; particularly a disorder associated with fat regulation, e.g., diabetes. Fourney discloses a method comprising administering to a subject an effective amount of a heterocyclic carbonyl glycine compound which inhibits a hypoxia inducible factor (HIF) hydroxylase. See, for example, paragraph 1, 4, 7, 78 and claim 3.

Therefore, the cited reference is deemed to anticipate the instant claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 43-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fournery et al. (USPN 7,618,940).

The reference is relied upon for the reasons discussed supra.

Based upon the beneficial overall teachings provided by Fournery with respect to such methods for treating diabetes in a diabetic subject, if not expressly taught, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to adjust particular conventional working conditions therein (e.g., a method of treating comprising administration of an effective amount of a compound to a subject having or at risk for having a metabolic disorder; particularly a disorder associated with fat regulation, e.g., diabetes and a method comprising administering to a subject an effective amount of a heterocyclic carbonyl glycine compound which inhibits a hypoxia inducible factor (HIF) hydroxylase.) –i.e., the adjustment of particular conventional working conditions is deemed merely a matter of judicious selection and routine optimization which is well within the purview of the skilled artisan.

From the teaching of the reference, it is apparent that one of ordinary skill in the art would have had a reasonable expectation of success in producing the claimed invention. Therefore, the invention as a whole was prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, as evidenced by the reference, especially in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

Conclusion

All claims are rejected.
